

houlding.chris@gmail.com

07702 354 277

Product Design & Experience Strategy. Design Operations & Leadership.

I'm a design leader who builds high-performing teams and design cultures in regulated, high-trust industries — turning complex, technical interactions into experiences people genuinely understand and rely on. Across fifteen-plus years I've led product design on both the B2C and B2B sides of the customer relationship, and getting as far upstream in the decision-making process as possible to shape the problem, not just validating solutions, is what continues to drive successful outcomes for both customer and business.

2023 - now

Head of UX intelliflo

I lead a multidisciplinary UX Design function at the UK's leading back-office platform for financial advisers, and I'm helping shift the organisation toward a more product-centric operating model. I built intelliflo's first production design system, and by integrating AI across our design operations and product-development lifecycle I've created delivery efficiencies (35% faster from concept to PRD) while keeping a firm human-in-the-loop standard. This frees our product and delivery teams to spend more time understanding the problems we need to solve, and less on execution.

I work closely with the CPO and CTO to shape the experience for our new Agentic Platform and bring the product vision to life. It's the latest step in a longer shift I've been driving: getting customer evidence upstream into business decisions, with measurable impact on customer satisfaction (+12-point UMUX-lite score across key journeys in our platform) and revenue (+15% feature adoption across our Wealthlink offering).

2022 - 2023

Head of Product Design DrDoctor

I led the Product Design function, driving a company-wide shift toward a more design-led, user-centred culture. I set and executed a strategy to improve design processes, outcomes and team culture. Launched a centralised insights hub and introduced UX metrics (UMUX-lite) to measure the real impact of our product experiences. I partnered with the Product Director, Technical Director and CTO to shape product vision and refine the operating model.

2020 - 2022	Senior Product Design Manager / DesOps Nationwide Building Society	I built and developed a community of 90+ product designers, and defined the Service and Experience Design adoption strategy that aligned Engineering, Product and Marketing around real customer needs, grounding what we built in discovery research and evaluative testing rather than assumption.
2016 - 2020	Product Design Lead / Manager Nationwide Building Society	I led the creation and adoption of Nationwide's first multi-platform design system, bringing consistency across web, mobile and internal systems. I contributed directly to critical member journeys, optimising support experiences, streamlining mortgage applications, and building a financial wellbeing health check tool.
2013 - 2016	Head of Website Design Mubaloo Ltd. (IPG Mediabrands)	I oversaw the website and web-application division as a product design specialist, working across the full project lifecycle for a range of global brands; from client pitches through to design, testing and brand direction.
2007 - 2013	Senior Digital Designer Oakwood Media Group	I designed and built websites for Mattel sub-brands including Barbie and Hot Wheels, translating client briefs into digital solutions for international promotions, and maintained their digital marketing activity with synthesised performance insights.
2004 - 2007	Digital / Graphic Designer Asabell Ltd.	A digital designer working predominantly on B2B digital and print communications for clients including BT, O2 and RBS.

Core capabilities

- Product and experience strategy
- Design leadership and team-building.
- Service and experience design practice
- AI-enabled design operations
- Launching and scaling design systems
- Generative and evaluative research (qual + quant)